Gold Members control every aspect of the window fabrication process on-site and are required to meet the industry's most stringent standards for materials, and finished window appearance and performance. As with other PPG Certified Fabricators, Gold Members participate in strict annual audits that encompass standards established according to the following organizations and guidelines:

- PPG Coating Application Guidelines
- Safety Glazing Certification Council
- PPG Solarban Glass Processing Guidelines
- Insulating Glass Certification Council
- American Architectural Manufacturing Association
- American Society for Testing & Materials (ASTM)

Silver Members feature PPG glass in their windows, but use non-PPG products in the individual components. They earn PPG Certification by subjecting their windows and manufacturing processes to the same audit standards as Gold Program members.

Bronze Members level certification was developed to allow commercial window companies who do not manufacture glass the opportunity to still participate in the program.
